🚀 Lunexia Game Upload Guide

This guide contains the necessary technical standards and upload steps to ensure your game runs smoothly on the Lunexia platform.

1. Unity Build Settings (REQUIRED)

The following Unity settings must be configured for your game to load and run correctly in the browser.

- Platform Selection: Open File → Build Settings, select WebGL, and click the Switch Platform button.
- Publishing Settings: Navigate to Player Settings → Publishing Settings and apply the following values:
  - Compression Format: Must be set to Gzip.
  - Decompression Fallback: Must be Enabled.

Note: If these settings are not configured, your game may fail to load in the browser.

2. WebGL Build Structure

After the build process is complete, your folder must contain the following essential files and directories:

- index.html (The main entry point).
- Build/ (Engine files).
- TemplateData/ (UI and loading screen data).

Warning: If any of these files are missing, the upload will not work.

3. Preparing the ZIP Archive

The most critical part of the upload is the internal ZIP structure:

- Correct Method: Select the index.html file and the associated folders, right-click, and compress them into a ZIP file.
- The Root Rule: When the ZIP is opened, the index.html must be in the root directory.

Warning: Do NOT include an extra parent folder.

4. Upload Process

When submitting your game via the Lunexia dashboard, fill out the form as follows:

1. Game Title: Enter your game's official name.
2. Category: Select the appropriate genre (Action, Adventure, etc.).
3. Game File Link: Upload your prepared WebGL ZIP package.
4. Description: Provide a short explanation and game controls.

5. Review & Rules

All submissions undergo a verification process:

- Validation: Checking file structure and browser compatibility.
- Policy Review: Ensuring the game meets content and safety standards.
